THE CHINESE QUESTION.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—Mr. P. C.
Jones, in his opinion about the Chinese question, writes as follows: "I publish this with the expectation of being called a missionary and a 'crank,' but I wish to say that I care not for that, nor for the vials of wrath which I expect to have poured out upon me."

I do not see what justified Mr.
Jones to use these expressions. That he belongs to the so-called missionary party is unquestionable, but that is in my opinion no dishonor, as he has as much right as any to belong to that or another political party, and that anybody should call him a "crank" for giving his candi-dine opinion about the burning question of the day, is without any foundation whatever. We have all of us the liberty to express our opinion in decent words, and Mr. Jones had done better, I think, if he had given his opinion, without inviting personal attacks. Mr. P. C. Jones writes:

"The cry has been stated that the 'Chinese must go,' and the public has taken up the cry.

"I believe firmly that all men are born free and equal.

"I am of opinion that . . .
Chinese coming into this country shall be accompanied by their wives."

Permit me, Mr. Editor, to give my opinion about the above sentences, and to begin with the beginning; Where was the cry against the Chinese started, and who started it? The cry was started in America and Australia, and not by a few 'soreheads' but by the white population, which was gradually but surely driven to the wall. If America has found it to be of utmost importance to check the Chinese notwithstanding they only amount to 1 in five hundred (in California), how much more important is it not here, where they amount to one in five? Do we, on these islands, possess a knowledge far superior than those living in California or Australia? Are we only right in our doings, and they wrong? America, whose tree of liberty overshadows people of all nationalities, has also thus far overshadowed the Chinese, but what does it now? It throws them off, it hinders them from coming in, it restricts them in every way, and what for? For self protection. Ought we not to protect ourselves? Are we so much superior to our American brethren, that we do not need to do that? Is the public so entirely mistaken about what is good and what not, for its own welfare? I do not believe in 'Vox Populi, Vox Dei,' but I do believe that if the public at large are of one opinion generally about the welfare of the community, that there the public is right, even if a man, of Mr. Jones' well known and respected ability, is of a contrary opinion. That "the Chinese must go" ought to be the watchword, is my opinion, and I know that it is shared by many.

That all men are born free and equal is not denied, contrary, it is a well established doctrine. I believe myself that before God, all men are born free and equal. But what has that to do with our political life and our domestic conditions? If a man is born equal to myself, but does not behave or live like myself, have I not a right to keep him from my house? If a private individual has that right, why not a country?
Is that class legislation here more than in other countries to prohibit unwelcome or certain nationalities to come into the country? Does not the Chinese consider themselves a class? Do they assimilate with the white population, here or anywhere else? Do they adopt our mode of living? If not, why ought they not to be treated as a class?

"They ought to be compelled to bring their wives along with them." Has Mr. Jones thought about the consequences of that? I think not, because, I do not believe that he would have made that statement if he had? Have we not Asiatics enough here already? Can it be possible that Mr. Jones wants an increase of the Chinese? What would then become of our white and native population? They would simply be driven out, their bread would be taken from them, they would be unable to support their families, they would starve, and it makes me shudder to think what a starving population can do, when it is driven to the wall.

Then again Mr. Jones says that the white man sends his money out of the country as well as the Chinese. True, but a truth with modifications. What does a white man, supporter of a family or single, spend in the country to live? And what does the Chinaman spend for the same purpose? A white man will have to pay $15 to $20 per month for board, and besides that he has to pay for his lodging, and what does a Chinaman pay or how do they sleep? Will any white man stand up and say: Well, the Chinaman lives on 25 cents a day, they sleep 6 in a room 6 x 9, go thou and do likewise? The Chinese has a pair of slippers, a pair of wide pants and a jumper. You ought to be as they? Is that the meaning? How would it be to see all the laboring men that now comes to church, dressed in that attire? It is to go to extremes, will you say, but I think that it is only the consequences of the pro-Chinese policy.

It is easy for a rich man to say to the laborer, it is good enough for you, but believe me, Mr. Editor, it is hard for an honest man to hear such words, to hear from the lips of a man of his own kind and race, that he, in social life, and in family life, is just like a Chinaman or any other Asiatic—so long as the Asiatic does not acquire the white man's mode of living.

Would we have had the Kinau, the W. G. Hall, or other steamers if the white man had not invested his capital? Would we have been blessed with telephones, electric light, railways, etc., if the multitude of our citizens were Chinese?
What right has a white man in China? Can he enter any harbor he likes, acquire property, travel where he wants to in China, like the Chinese do here? Is there class-legislation in China or not?

I think, that as servants and common laborers the Chinamen are useful and that we must have them. I think further that a limited number ought to be here for that purpose, and that they ought to be sent back when their contract for time is up, or re-ship. I think they are like the, from the Gods stolen, fire—good as servants, bad as masters.

Mr. Jones gave an illustration, I will give one also. A man came here in a ship, which was laid up, and is now for sale. He has been unable to secure a berth in another vessel, he has not money enough to pay his passage to California, and he cannot obtain work; What is he going to do? Is he to be arrested for vagrancy when he cannot get any work? He has applied to the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Co., to Wilder S. S. Co., to many others, friends have tried to get him work, but all in vain. Please solve me the riddle. I will add that the man in question has conducted himself in a respectable way here, and that he is so busy that even is unable to travel to the other islands in order to seek employ, is surely not his fault. There are more than him here under precisely the same circumstances.
